Judy posted:

Dear Daddy, Momma told me one time that anyone could father a child, but it was a special man that was a daddy. Though you did not "father" me, you were the best daddy I could have ever had. It seems the Lord hand picked you just for me and all of us. You were my daddy and I will always be thankful for you. I will miss walking in the door and hearing you say "Hey Gal" What's up?" I can still see you and I playing video poker at Ceaser's and me hitting that Royal Flush on my third roll. I had never played and you were teaching me. We really only put the money in to make change. Then you made me take the money home... We had a grand time !!!! Now Daddy, your time with us is done as you have gone on ahead of us. You raised us up, you always protected and cared for us, and now it is your turn to rest and see Jesus. To reap what you have sewn. The Lord loves you more than we ever could. We will see you again Daddy, Jesus promises us. Until we do, we will take care of momma and remember all you taught us. In Jesus name we thank Him for you and love you.
