I had the pleasure of working with Traci. She was so much fun to work with because of her fun, bubbly, and outgoing personality. She made such an impact on so many lives. One of her patients recently shared with me that he enjoyed having her for a nurse because she was a ray of sunshine. He said that Traci could always cheer him up, and that she always treated him with compassion and respect. She is truly missed. My heart and prayers are with her family.

I have worked with Traci off and on for the last 8 years. She was always such a joy to be around and always had that huge smile on her face. She was a wonderful nurse and loving mom. She was forever telling stories of her girls and loved them beyond measure. Kindred will not be the same without her. I will miss seeing her face.

A very outgoing and loving person who genuinely cared about others. Was one of the nurses who would cry alongside families going through difficult times and empathized with them. I had the privilege of working with her before she left triumph years ago and was pleased to see her return. She had a good optimistic outlook and always had stories to keep me entertained. Truly a great nurse and I'm sure an even better mother... she will be missed.

We use to have some very deep talks about some very shallow stuff for no good reason other than to talk away a day or a night. Traci taught me one of the very greatest lessons in my life and I share it every chance I get. I was raised in the Baptist faith. I visited with her at her church there In Deer Park Texas. I did not have a concept for the speaking in tongues and the high level of praise those visits afforded me. So, in one of our conversations of nothing at all, I asked her to please explain it to me. So she picked the most loving way to tell me that she thought I would grasp the magnitude of how she loved her Lord, she said; "You know how you love your Oilers and you will make a fool of yourself shouting, screaming and singing their praises...take the roof off the house...you think they are the greatest thing on this earth?" I said, well sure that's understandable,She said, "I am a fool for my God! I am that fan for God"Enough said, friend. I praise my Lord a little louder and a little more publicly since then. God is worthy of my praise. Traci increased my walk with the Lord that day.She will be missed and remembered often!!!
