Laura Sheffield Goodrum lit a candle in honor of Jon.

Jon I didn't really didn't realize how much I missed you and will continue to miss you. Related not by blood but by spirit. I will cherish each memory I have of playing and just sitting and talking. I treasure the big Easter celebration and breaking the confetti eggs all day long. And our parents hid enough candy eggs to make us absolutely ill. Going to a all girls high school meant that from time to time I needed to find my own dates for some activities. And you were gracious enough to fill in as my date from time to time. I am a little jealous, getting to be with my parents. both of our grand parents. I am sure Patric has met up with you by now, and I hope you got to see my beautiful baby Nicole. You are so loved. I will miss you. please come by from time to time and be my angel when I need help.
