Rabeth Walker lit a candle in honor of Julian.

Great Uncle Julian was my Granddaddy, William (Bill) Walton's brother and we did not get to see him very often. I remember seeing him once or twice at Granddaddy's house when we happen to be visiting Granddaddy, and once again at Granddaddy's funeral. Julian was a very nice man and had some interesting stories to tell. I remember his smile. He will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him. We want to extend our deepest sympathy and condolences to all his family and friends. May warm memories bring you peace and may God bless and comfort you all during this sad and difficult time. Love Rabeth and Frank Walker (Bill Walton's granddaughter) Maryland Timmerman (Bill Walton's daughter)

Always remember Uncle Julian as a sweet and caring man. He always had a big smile and his laugh was contagious. Hanging out at Grandma's house, with Aunt Bertha was where as a kid remembered him most. He always had a big cigar and it smelled like cherries. We were thankful and blessed that we got to visit with him at his 100th Birthday party and to me, he hadn't changed a bit. Maybe without the big cigar, but still full of big smiles and laughs. My thoughts and prayers go out to my cousins for peace, knowing he was loved by all of his family and lived a great long life Much love, Frankie Bryson Holderrieth

Our condolences go out to all who had the privilege of knowing Uncle Julian. All of his family here in Georgia remember him most fondly. We enjoyed wonderful visits with Julian at our grandfather's home in Augusta, GA. To a long life. How does one thank another for a lifetime of memories?

To Family of Uncle Julian Our memories of uncle Julian go back to the early 1950's when he and his brothers came down from Houston, Texas to visit us in Georgia. We were real young but remember Sandra, Linda, and Tommy Jo. We were so glad to see them and play together. If only we could go back in time. I remember how handsome Uncle Julian was and his wife Bertha. There were a few other times when they came to visit us. We want to extend our deepest sympathy in your loss and lift you up to the throne of God. May God provide all of you with peace and comfort during this most difficult time. God bless you. Love you all. Madeline Walton West (Bill Walton's daughter) Augusta, Georgia 30906.
